Dear members of the academic community,

We begin a new academic year with the joy of welcoming over 11,000 new students to our Bachelor's, Master's, and Doctoral programs, and with the responsibility that comes with this trust.

We welcome our first-year students and wish them courage, curiosity, and the thrill of discovering their place within ASE's community.

To all students, faculty members, researchers, and administrative colleagues: may we all be in good health, attain achievements that match our potential, and pursue projects that strengthen the dynamism and recognition of ASE.

This year, when ASE's Palace celebrates its Centenary, we continue together the legacy built by generations before us through education, hard work, and trust.

May everyone enjoy a wonderful academic year!
